Haws® Selects Zevado™ as Emergency Equipment Warranty & Services Provider to Offer Support with Customers' ANSI Compliance Needs

Sparks, NV (March 28, 2016) – Recently, Haws, a global emergency and hydration equipment manufacturer, announced that Zevado, an independent services provider, was selected as the principal source for nation-wide onsite facility support for their emergency shower and eyewash equipment.

Zevado is an independent company offering extensive experience with multiple equipment brands in product commissioning, ANSI Z358.1 annual inspections and training, repairs, warranty support, and preventative maintenance to enable facilities to provide properly functioning, ANSI compliant, equipment to employees.

Recently, OSHA announced a substantial fine increase of 80% in civil penalties effective July 1, 2016. OSHA regulates safety equipment compliance based on the ANSI Z358.1 Standard. With the advancement in the recent Z358.1-2014 Standard as well as the OSHA fines announcement, Haws recognizes the need to provide best-in-class support for resource-constrained customers and safety professionals. Zevado provides facilities with the necessary resources to assess, install, update, and maintain emergency equipment as required in the ANSI Z358.1 Standard.

“We understand that emergency equipment's lifecycle longevity and reliability is not simply dependent on an accurate product construction,” said Sam Sarver, VP of Haws Safety Solutions. “By selecting Zevado, customers have access to a robust service solution that no other manufacturer in our field has to offer. Qualified and educated technical support onsite can relieve the strain and frustration that facilities face when having to juggle all their valuable safety initiatives.”

Zevado's knowledgeable service technicians will work closely with the Haws and the Haws Integrated™ engineering teams to provide reliable and suitable support both onsite and remotely for all Haws emergency products including standard eyewashes and combination showers as well as larger scale tempering systems and enclosed booths. More information about Zevado can be found at www.Zevado.com.
